The wireless message with which Capt. Cook of the Corsican reported the accident to the Allan line officers here tonight read as follows:

Corsican struck on iceberg this afternoon at 4 o'clock while going very slowly. Stem injured above water.

PICKED UP OFF THE ISLES OF SHOALS

Rockport Summer Visitors Lost in Bay Fog for 24 Hours.

After being tossed about in Massachusetts bay for hours in a small motor boat, lost in the fog, and with their engine broken, Harry Barron and Edward Daniels, who are stopping at Rockport for the summer, were towed back to port Monday by the fishing steamer Water Witch, whose crew found the two young men nearly overcome by exposure drifting toward the Isles of Shoals.

The two young men left Rockport Sunday with newspapers for the war vessels anchored about two miles off the breakwater. When they started to return home a heavy fog set in. After a time their engine went out of commission.

When they did not return toward evening the Humane Society motor boat under command of Capt. John Green put out in search, going as far as the Isles of Shoals, but no trace of the amateur sailors could be found.

Early Monday the Water Witch was feeling her way through the fog off the Isles of Shoals when the fog lifted for an instant she sighted the motor boat.

PASSAGEWAY DECLARED PUBLIC

City Solicitor Emery Will Recommend That City Pass Order So Deciding.

City Solicitor Samuel W. Emery, Jr., will recommend to the city council, at its first meeting, that an order be passed requiring Amos O. Benfield to keep open for public use the passageway separating the Glebe building, occupied by him, and the church building of the North Congregational parish. Mr. Emery says that he finds that the way is public and that nothing in the deeds can be construed as giving any private rights to any individual.

Mr. Emery has been investigating the situation at the request of property owners on Church street who contemplate improving their property. According to them, Mr. Benfield, whose wife owns the Glebe building, has constantly used the passageway as a storage for crates, boxes and barrels and materials used in his grocery business. It is also claimed by them that a gate on the west side of the way has frequently been closed in order to bar traffic. Mr. Benfield has said that he followed the custom of his predecessors in business.

In his investigation Mr. Emery has traced deeds as far back as 1813. He found that the property was originally held by the Proprietors of Strawberry Bank, and was taken over by the city at the time of its incorporation. At one time a portion of the way was covered by an addition to the church building which contained the pulpit. When the question of ownership was then raised the city claimed its right in the way and in turn deeded certain property to the parish on the opposite side of the building. Mr. Emery found in the city records that the late John Rider was compelled to open the way when he conducted the grocery business that was later purchased by Mr. Benfield.

In the deed by which the Glebe property was transferred to Mr. Benfield by the Piscataqua Savings bank Mr. Emery found that the Glebe property is bounded on the north by a "lane approximately twenty feet wide," and that the lane is described as separating the property from the North Congregational church. The way runs east and west from Pleasant to Church street.

PORTSMOUTH AND GREENLAND RAILROAD PURCHASED

Citizens' Committee Take Possession
on Monday and Boston & Maine Will Operate It.

The arrangement by which the citizens become owners of the Portsmouth and Greenland Electric Railway were completed at 10 o'clock Monday and the papers were signed between Mayor D. W. Badger and the Citizens' Board and the New Hampshire Traction Company through President David A. Beeden.

The matter of the purchase of the road has been hanging fire for some weeks, owing to the fact that the subscription lacked about $1800 of the $10,000 required, but this was made up during the past week by a bit of hustling on the part of the committee, who lost no time in completing the deal as soon as the money became available.

According to the plans, the rails, which were taken up between the Plains and the Concord bridge, will be replaced as soon as possible. The road will be operated by the Boston and Maine railroad in connection with their local road, for a term of three years and at the end of that time the railroad will take over the road for a price based on its earning capacity.

The Boston and Maine have agreed to relay the tracks and to get the road bed in condition and it is expected that the work will be started shortly.

he will have the past next year. Huggins has made good as a player at second base with the Cardinals, and, while Roger Bresnahan would hate to lose him, it is not likely that he would stand in the way of Huggins bettering himself.

St. Louis Has Beaten Giants in Five of Last Seven Games

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Roger Bresnahan manager of the Cardinals left this city before the arrival of the Chicago dispatch in which president Murphy was quoted in criticism of his reported interest in a world tour of the New York Giants and All American league stars.
Bresnahan's connection with the plan is said to be that of only a pro-

The Whipples played the Parochials in a game of basket ball Monday afternoon, and beat them by a score of 32 to 14. The Parochials played well, but were unable to make the goals. Edith Gibson threw most of the goals for the Whipples.

SCHEPP'S MAY CLEAN UP THE ROSENTHAL MYSTERY

New York, Aug. 12.—This week promises to unravel much if not all of the mystery that still surrounds the killing of the gambler Herman Rosenthal, who was shot in front of the Hotel Metropole nearly a month ago.

With the opening of Sam Schepps, from Hol Springs, Ark., and a possible confession from Jack Sullivan, the district attorney's office prepared itself today for new and important evidence that would corroborate the confession of "Wild Jack" Rose, that Police Lieut. Becker instigated the murder.

Schepps, according to Rose, rode in the murder car uptown and later held the gunmen for their work. The public prosecutor has already sent an officer to bring Schepps to this city and has also requested the Hot Springs officials not to turn their man over to any one without instructions from the district attorney's office.

Dist. Atty. Whitman wants his own men to see Schepps before his New York police get to him.

Detectives hearing a report that Harry Horowitz, gunman, wanted in the Rosenthal case, was in the city, combed the East Side today in search for him.

The Aldermanic investigating committee was scheduled to meet this afternoon to select its counsel. The public prosecutor's office is said to have obtained information that Becker had accounts in no less than eight banks in this city. There are indications, it was reported, that since the murder of Rosenthal, several thousand dollars have been withdrawn.

DEMOCRATS PLAN TO PUT TAFT IN BAD

Washington Aug. 12.—Democrats of the House and certain of the progressive Republicans of the Senate are talking today of a scheme of adjournment without delay and without reaching an agreement on important bills which the President has vetoed or promised to veto. Should this plan be carried out Congress would have put itself on record as unalterably opposed to Mr. Taft and willing to go before the country on the clear issue of the Executive versus the legislative branch.

When the President vetoes the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill, probably by the middle of the week, it will undoubtedly be found impossible to pass it over his signature. According to current rumor Representative Fitzgerald, or majority leader Underwood, will then rise on the floor and pointing out forcibly that much of the legislation passed by Congress such as the tariff bills and the legislative bill has been nullified by Mr. Taft, will offer a resolution continuing the existing appropriations till December and move to adjourn. The effect of this action, it is believed, would be to give the political enemies of the President an opportunity to criticize him for his "arbitrary use" of the veto power to the detriment of public business. In the case of the tariff bills that Democrats and Progressives believe that this argument would be particularly effective.

One of the measures about to go to conference and upon which it will be difficult to reach an agreement is the Post Office appropriation bill. The plan above outlined would enable the taxed questions of "parcels post" and postal rates to be put off till after the elections, while giving to both parties opposing the Presidential "campaign thunder" to use against him as an "obstructor of progressive legislation."

Some of the less radical congressmen, however, feel that such a plan as that above outlined would be too great a risk for the Administration could charge in reply that Congress did not know how to legislate and could base criticism on the amendment proposing to establish a seven-year tenure for civil servants in the District of Columbia. It is believed by many that a compromise on the legislative bill will eventually be reached, the House and Senate eliminating all specific mention by name of that judicial body.

POSITIVE PROOF

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Portsmouth.

Because it's evidence of a Portsmouth citizen. Testimony easily investigated. The strongest endorsement of merit.

The best proof. Read it: George S. Chandler, 420 Pleasant St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I do a great deal of walking in my work and in this way my kidneys became weakened, causing me much suffering. About three years ago I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. They cured me and I have had little trouble since. Sometimes when I overwork or do any heavy lifting, I notice lameness in my back but on such occasions, a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills bring relief. I have recommended this excellent remedy to many of my friends and in every instance where it has been tried, benefit has followed. Doan's Kidney Pills can be procured at Philbrick's Drug Store and should be given a thorough trial by every kidney sufferer."

STEEL CARS SHOW THEIR VALUE

New York, Aug. 12.—The value of steel cars was made manifest in the Park-av tunnel when the 90-ton electric locomotive pulling the Boston midnight express jumped the tracks of the 55th-st entrance to the Grand Central station yards, and plunged along the ties for 150 feet, pulling a baggage car and a Pullman sleeper after it and breaking up the train.

300 passengers on the train were jolted about by a series of terrific jurs, but none were injured. Nor were any of the cars damaged, save the one baggage car, which caught fire.

There were however, a few minutes of terror for the passenger on the train, owing to the flames that leaped up from the third rail and the commanding of cross electric that shot sprays of sparks high in the air. The fire that followed the electrical display as the big locomotive plowed up the rail, breaking it off at several places, drew a relay of fire apparatus, and scores of ladders were let down into the cut for the frightened passengers to climb up.

Practically all the 800 passengers on the train made their escape to the street on the ladders or by way of the 55th-st stairways. It is believed that one of the frogs of the switches cracked and this threw the hump of the locomotive off the track, and it pounded along over the ties with a tremendous bumping that shivered through the entire train.

So far as the police could learn not a single passenger reported an injury, and the damage to the locomotive and cars was not considerable. At almost the same spot about eight years ago a train of wooden cars was wrecked and more than a score of people killed.

OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Is the Great London Shows

"Something out of the ordinary" is a remark that can properly be made of Howe's London Shows Consolidated which will exhibit in this city Aug. 21, afternoon and evening.

The big circus has a reputation for producing remarkable surprises in its arena until the public has learned that it can attend an exhibition of the Great London Circus expecting to see something new and different. There is an unusual number of features with this show this season. It is difficult to pick the best. Some will like the trained wild beasts' exhibition or horse wonders. Others will prefer the Zanfretta family, Meredith Troupe, the Riding Low-Andes, the Glasgow Royal Horses, the Little Troupe, while some will spend most of their time laughing at the host of clowns listening to the Julius Winslow famous band enjoying the races, admiring the animals or petting the beautiful Dublin Prize Horses. No matter which way one looks while under any one of the Howe tents, he is sure to see something out of the ordinary.

GOOD ADVICE.

Don't allow your neighbor to prescribe for your baby. If you cannot afford a physician, notify the health board.

Dr. Francis X. Mahoney, temporary chairman of the Boston health board, gives this advice in a circular which is being prepared as a guide to mothers for the care of infants. The temporary chairman is also opposed to having mothers treat their own babies when they are ill unless they do so under the direction of a physician.

Here are more of Health Commissioner Mahoney's advice:

"Don't treat your own baby, nor allow your neighbor to do what you should not do. It is dangerous, and the poor baby cannot protest. If you cannot afford a physician, notify the overseer of the poor and you will get one.

"Don't think every child must have children's diseases. Measles is one of the most dangerous diseases. If your child shows symptoms of illness, put him away by himself for observation. If he does not show signs of improvement, within a reasonable time, send for a physician. Don't send for your neighbor.

"Milk arrives at the home in a practically safe condition. Consequently the after treatment of the milk is most important.

"Flies are an abomination and should be exterminated everywhere." Incidentally Health Commissioner Mahoney wants the grown-ups to take better care of themselves and aid the health board in keeping down the death and sickness rate in the city. "A little better attention to good food, good exercise, fresh air and sleep will help," he says. "People do not require a physician's prescription to learn that sunlight is the greatest antiseptic and disinfectant in the world, as well as being the cheapest.

"I am not proclaiming any new discovery of science when I say that our brains were given us to use, but it may be news to many to add that if people stopped to think, the world would be saved from much sickness. Not one thinks of using a common tooth brush, yet the common drinking cup, and the common towel may be even more dangerous.

"People should give more attention to light and ventilation in their homes. Back yards are intended for light and ventilation and not for garbage and refuse."

GREEN ACRE CONCERTS

I have seen no report of the concert given Aug. 7 by Miss Emeline P. Welager and I do not think it is just to her or the public not to have some report of it made.

There was one of the largest audiences ever gathered in the Elerion and the applause was beyond my power to describe. She is nearly ready to commence her great career, which will I believe place her in the front rank of our great singers. A noble character as well as a fine singer.

Prof. Kinney is fortunate in having such a pupil and she is fortunate in having such a teacher.

Next Wednesday, Aug. 14, we are to have another rare treat by hearing another of Prof. Kinney's pupils, Mrs. Regina Hessler-Fox, who has a remarkable contralto voice. She has clippings from many newspapers where she has sung speaking of her singing in the very highest terms. No lover of good singing can afford to miss hearing her, no matter how much you may surmise in another direction. You will feel that you have made a good trade.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 13, 1912.

The New York Tribune remarks that Mr. Wilson's radical war cry is about as terrifying as a young woman's college yell.

Now we will see which has the more glorious 1912 Sunsets, Concord or Portsmouth. In 1911 the verdict was gained by the capital city.—Concord Monitor.

It is to be hoped that when the sun sets next Saturday afternoon it will be one of the good old fashioned Strawberry Bank kind and that victory will be perched with the P. C. U.

The Boston Record remarks that "Cy" Sulloway may gain a fleeting moment of fame by wearing yellow socks and slippers but history remains true to the feat of Sockless Jerry Simpson.

This may be true as far as the socks are concerned but a fleeting glance at the "Tall Pine of the Merrimack" usually lasts until Congressman Sulloway turns the corner. There are very few men in this section that can hide his light under a bushel.

An exchange says we would like to see the President take a strong stand on the matter of tacking extraneous legislation onto appropriation bills. He has his chance in the veto expected of him, and the forecast that he will seize the occasion to say what he thinks—and what thousands of others think—about this habit of tacking appropriation bills up with general legislation of the character that marks the bill he is expected to veto, hints at a great and needed public service. Appropriation bills designed to provide funds to run the routine of government should be left free of complications. It is an old practice, and a cheap fraud to try to push through other legislation by tacking it onto a bill which cannot be vetoed without holding up necessary business of government.

The New York World says neither the House nor the Senate has the courage to come out frankly in favor of restoring the spoils system. They would be more honest if they did so. Instead, a provision has been slipped into the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill fixing a seven-year tenure of office for civil service employees in Washington. There are thousands of government clerks in the departments at Washington to whom this rule would apply if it were enacted into law. It would be the first step toward a scramble for offices such as this country has not seen for many years. It would be certain to demoralize the government service and decrease its efficiency. That there is much dead wood in the government bureau no one can deny. One trouble has been that the offices have been multiplied beyond any possible need. The standards of work are low as compared with those in the business world. But if the departments are to be reformed there are other ways than destroying the civil service system, though none probably so attractive to politicians who hope to transmute patronage into votes in their districts.

Bird's Eye Views.

Another phase of the conservation question comes up in connection with Meticello. The point to be decided is whether the responsibility will be placed in public charge or left to private enterprise.

It may be that as convicts are hired as taxicab men in New York the conduct of the average New York taxicab makes such occupation look like extra punishment.

Every Chicago hotel keeper ought to be grateful to Col. Roosevelt as the man who has done more than any other individual to help business this summer.

The feelings of Henry Watterson would have been difficult to express if W. J. Bryan had stampeded himself into the nomination at Baltimore.

President Taft and Governor Wilson are to speak from the same platform at the good roads convention that is to meet at Atlantic City next week. Naturally candidates of both parties can stand on a good roads platform.

The girls are blamed for leading the boys within range of the soda fountain, but their instinct is right that the fellow who will begrudge a 20c treat will not think favorably of her paying more than $2 for a hat.

The Portuguese royalists are positively determined to interfere with the pleasant holiday the ex king has been enjoying.

The campaign year of 1924 is to far ahead to be mentioned even in Col. Roosevelt's calculations.

Although women should be encouraged to learn to drive their own automobiles, they should get their hair done up before they come home, so that driving with one hand will not be necessary.

By this time the college graduate should have got over his feeling that he could give the boss some valuable advice. There may be points in the art of washing the windows that he has not yet learned.

Modern peace is as expensive as an ancient war, but it is much cheaper than modern war. Peace even at the price of modern argument is preferable to war and the only way for a nation to remain unassailed is to make itself unassailable.

Current Opinion

Mr. Roosevelt On His Platform

On his way home from Chicago Mr. Roosevelt said at Toledo, Ohio the other night that the progressive platform contained planks which he desired, but could not have had in the republican platform had he been the nominee of that party.

Frank, and true. Likewise a commentary on politicians and party platforms.

Mr. Roosevelt sought the republican nomination as a republican. With all its faults and delinquencies heat that time loved the old party still he had certain policies that he was urging and wanted adopted, but he was willing to put them by temporarily at least, if the party would accept him again as its leader.

This is tantamount to a confession that the party might have had him for a candidate on its own terms. He would have accepted a nomination on a platform omitting planks on which he was the candidate of the progressive party he is now joyfully standing with both feet. With but the slightest change the platform upon which Mr. Taft is standing would have been accepted by Mr. Roosevelt with thanks. "Anybody Lord, but send him quick" was the appeal of a despairing maiden for a sultan. Any platform good people but give me the nomination, was Mr. Roosevelt's attitude at Chicago in June.

But the republican convention was wise to Mr. Roosevelt and his program. It did not want him on any terms. It wrote a platform for the man who could and would stand on it fatfooted and contentedly. It placed him on it and he is not sighing for planks which do not appear in its construction.

Does the progressive platform contain all the things Mr. Roosevelt desires and is aiming at? Probably not. He might have had them. A word from him would have secured them. His word was paramount with his people. But with all of his impulsiveness and audacity he is canny. He is a cautious figure in a corner on matters affecting his personal fortunes. What he got last Wednesday was all that he thought it prudent to take at that time—all needful in his business just now.

The progressive platform shows Mr. Roosevelt's tendencies. He is headed for state socialism and as the star stated yesterday is a fast traveler when the road is clear. Put him at the head of our procession again, and he will then disclose his full program.

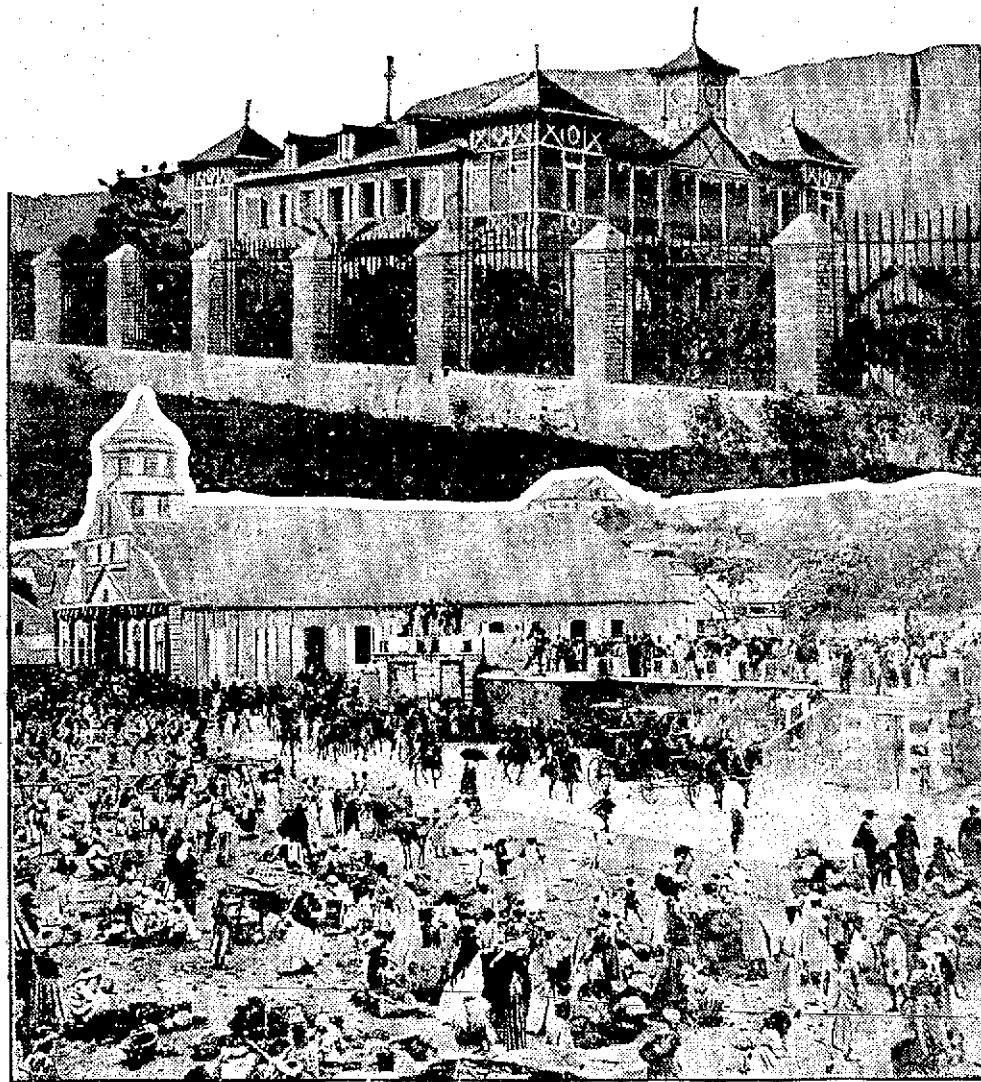

He will then produce as a jugler from his sleeve, the planks that do not for his own reasons now appear in the bull moose carpentry.

The man of Oyster Bay is many kinds of a boss, but the longest and widest blue ribbon he has yet won is as boss juggler.—Washington Star.

HER OLD GARDEN

Of well I remember my grandmother's garden,
The worn-out cabbages all in a row,
The woodpile where meekly the tows
were heaped,
The corners where ragweed and dock
used to grow,
The broken-down fence, and the no-man's-land
of rubbish,
The miniature swamp where the ditch-
water fell,
The ash heap, the bottles, the torn paper boxes,
The weather worn piggy that stood by the well.

There were old-fashioned plums in my grandmother's garden,
But the buds every season turned yellow and died,
And a clothesline, with overalls flapping
upon it,
And a barrel where Towser, the watch dog was tied.
So, grateful am I for the health regula-

That in beauty and sweetness and ef-

When memory points to the scenes of my boyhood
And the rickety piggy that stood by

CALL TO BATTLE IS SOUNDED

Chairman Barton Invites Recruits to the Republican Party's Army

The following letter from Jesse M. Barton, chairman of the Republican state committee, has been received by "The Herald," with a request that it be published:

Mr. Barton's Letter
To my brothers in the Republican party and to those young men who are about to cast their ballot for the first time in a state and national election, I write these lines as chairman of the Republican state committee.

Not in my day has there been such a grand old opportunity to show the real character of the individual and the vitality of the great principles which are now at stake in our future.

On the one hand we are opposed by the Democratic party, claiming to have assumed a new respectability by placing at the head of its ticket a gentleman who at one time was president of Princeton College; on the other hand we are confronted with the staidness and conservatism of the great character of modern times who, having cast aside all police, class vision and self control, is now trying by the use of the bandana and the call of the bill to arouse class hatred to a pitch never experienced on American soil, and with an utter disregard of all responsibility or care for the generations living and unborn.

The Democratic party renews its assault for the offices of government, under the same banners and transparencies that Mr. Bryan used sixteen years ago and in all his succeeding campaigns, except the free silver emblem, and claims that the country which has three re-elected Bryan is now ready to exalt his underdog who, from his verminity among deep-seated convictions, has been called the "champion improviser of lifelong impressions."

The Bull Moose party is seeking to exalt its master above Washington and Lincoln, impossible names—and thus demolish the precedent set by the father of this country and jealously guarded by all the generations who have helped to make and save America.

Should this be tolerated? Can we afford in our generation to trifle with those principles of popular government which have been written in the blood of our fathers?

Oh! the tragedy—an organization conceived and promoted by a trust-magistrate, existing the support of the "common people" in a scheme to stab the best friend they have on earth.

Oh! the comedy—the "plain people" shouting for the candidate for President, whose campaign is underwritten by George W. Perkins and associates, whose life work has been the formation and protection of trusts.

Those Republicans who are advanced in years, some of whom have participated in the organization of the party, and many of whom shouldered the musket in 1861 and marched to the southland to uphold the hands of the brave President in his attempt to preserve constitutional government throughout the nation, I ask that again you respond to the patriotic call to go forward in this fight and once more campaign for the rights of all the people to live in peace under written constitutions.

Let us younger Republicans who have entered into the labors of our fathers demonstrate that the blood of our ancestors has become neither sluggish nor thin, but is still of the right hand and color, and that we are as prepared in 1912 to stand for the essential rights of North American freemen, as were our fathers a century ago. Let us keep our faces to the rising sun and our trust in God, while with a limitless devotion to the cause we represent, we cheerfully assume the duties of the approaching campaign.

To the young man about to cast his ballot for the first time in a state and national campaign, who feels the responsibility of the impending citizenship, and desires man-fashion to meet the same, is extended a hearty invitation to enlist in our army and take an active part in the fight we are making for orderly, sober progress under the constitution which has made everything we enjoy a possibility.

JESSE M. BARTON,
Chairman, Republican State Committee.

HAMPTON BEACH CASINO

The Power of Money, a comedy drama in four acts is the bill to be given next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at Hampton Beach Casino, when the popular actress Augusta Perry to commence a short return engagement at this theatre. The play has an interesting story, strong dramatic moments, and plenty of good clean comedy, and affords Miss Perry as Lena Snider, a young German girl whose ready wit saves the old homestead from scheming landsharks and eventually attains a position of affluence through her own efforts. Miss Perry is seen in one of her best roles and one in which she has won much favor. Mr. Downing and the supporting company are cast to advantage in this play which will do effects. The mid week change of play will take place for the last three days.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening.

THAT BURGLARY

Roundabout in the Rochester Courier has the following to say:

Thieves have been quite numerous in neighboring places, but have not as yet disturbed Rochester. Whether this is because they fear our police officials, whether they don't like to get into a no-license community for fear they may be thirsty, or whether they think we haven't anything worth stealing here, Roundabout cannot say. Down at Portsmouth the other night they broke into Lawyer John W. Kelley's house. The family was away for the summer, however, and the silver had all been put into safety deposit vaults before their departure. There were a few pocketbooks around without any money in them and so the thieves fared poorly. Mr. Kelley reported his experience to the police, with instructions, if they found the burglars, to extend to them his most sincere thanks for not coming in two nights sooner, when he slept in the house all alone, and frightening him to death. Roundabout is inclined to think, however, that it would have been the intruders that would have gotten the scare and probably something worse. He remembers "Jack" Kelley in his college days as a football player of a large amount of "nerve." He has generally had his "nerve" right with him ever since, too. His house would be one of the last ones that Roundabout would want to break into.

BASEBALL

The Athletics forfeited a game to the Giants on the South playgrounds by a score of 9 to 0. The game had eight innings when in the eighth the Giants started a rally. This rally took all of the vim out of the Athletics and they left the field in disgust. The score at this time was 14 to 4 in favor of the Athletics. When the Athletics left the field the umpire called them back, claiming they had no right to leave the field. They would not go back and the umpire gave the game to the Giants. Both pitchers received poor support.

Being a Deliberate Attempt to Tell You What You Don't Know About Your Teeth

The fact that the average person can get along with one set of hands, but not with one set of teeth, proves that something is radically wrong with the methods employed in caring for the teeth.

Our hands are normally healthy because they are exposed to the air, which contains a large percentage of oxygen.

Dentifrices used in the past were made simply to whiten the teeth, no thought being given to the health of teeth, mouth and gums.

Chalk and other gritty substances were used—anything to clean the surface of the teeth. Strong flavoring materials and irritants such as Tynol, Menthol or Oil of Wintergreen were used in dentifrices to cover offensive odors of decaying teeth—and as a result the enamel coating was destroyed.

The United States Government has granted a process patent exclusively to the inventors for their method of regulating oxygen in Dentylne Peroxide Paste and Powder. Oxygen liberated when used as in Dentylne Peroxide acts as a natural deodorizer, germicide and bleacher. It is the one preparation that not only cleanses and preserves the teeth but also makes them snowy white.

CHILDREN HAVE NARROW ESCAPE ON RAILROAD TRACK

Harold and Walter McDonald of Kittery Playing on Track -- Prompt Work of Engineer Saves Lives.

Harold McDonald, age 3 years, and Walter, age four, of Kittery, had a narrow escape from being run over by the Navy Yard workman's train on Monday afternoon and the prompt work of Engineer Dame alone save their lives.

The little children who live with their parents in Kittery, were playing on the track at the Pitt street crossing Monday afternoon, when the Navy Yard workman's train, Engineer Dame was pulling out of the yard, with the workmen shortly before five o'clock.

There is a curve in the track and Engineer Dame was making good time, in rounding the track he was horrified to see the children on the track. He promptly applied the emergency brakes and came to a stop so quick that the workmen were considerably shaken up, but he pulled the train to a standstill, but a short distance from the now frightened children.

With a heavy train on an up grade curve, it was impossible to get going again until the train was backed to the Navy Yard and started over again.

It was a fortunate escape for the children, for it was only by prompt work that the train was stopped.

LIVERY STABLE CHANGES HANDS

One of the oldest and best known business concerns in this city changed hands on Monday when R. H. Beacham and Son, sold their livery business on Platt street to the Hilsop Brothers who will take possession on Aug. 15th.

The sale includes all of the real estate and equipment of the Beachams and will conduct it along with their business on Vaughan street.

Beacham's stable is undoubtedly one of the finest in New England, and nowhere for a city of its size is there a better equipped or conducted stable. The horses are excellent and the carriages, which include a great many hacks and hearses are second to none.

Richard H. Beacham who retires from active work, came here a young man forty-six years ago, and started the livery business in the days of great competition, and by hustling and strict attention to business he built up his business, and at one time he owned every stable in the city. He has always maintained a high standard, and in this way created a reputation which extended far beyond the city. His son, Harry L. Beacham, began early to assist his father and for nearly thirty years he has been in the business and for the past fifteen years associated with his father. He will now devote all of his time to the automobile business.

The passing of the Beachams in the livery business will be generally regretted. The Hilsop Brothers who take possession however, will maintain the same excellent plant and will make their headquarters at the Fleet street stables, and conduct their Vaughan street stable as a sales and boarding stable. They are two hustling young men who are bound to make good.

THEATRICAL TOPICS

New York, Aug. 12.—Leon Mayers, manager of the Spring Maid Company, which closed a road tour at Erie, Penn., on Saturday night, shot and killed himself today in the Felix-Portland Hotel, 122 West 47th st. His wife was in an adjoining room when he fired the shot.

Mrs. Mayer said that her husband had been depressed for several weeks and she was unable to get any explanation from him. He rose about 6 today and went into the sitting room. A few minutes later Mrs. Mayer heard what she at first thought was the explosion of an automobile tire on the street below. She called to her husband and when he did not reply, she went into the sitting room. Mayer was dead on the floor with a bullet in his left temple. On the table Mrs. Mayer found a note which read:

"My Dear Wife—God forgive me for my act and God will take care of you. Your loving husband, Leon"

A physician was summoned, but the theatrical man had died instantly. To a policeman who was called, Mrs. Mayer said she had tried to learn from her husband whether he was in business troubles, but he evaded her questions. The suicide had $3000 in cash of the Spring Maid Company's money when he died which his wife turned over immediately after the tragedy to one of the owners of the show.

Dr. Wm. E. Barker Make a Remarkable Statement After Traveling from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

As he secured some of the most notable endorsements to his theory he does not hesitate in saying that he will positively guarantee blood to cure stone in the bladder or any kidney or bladder trouble, no matter how long you have been suffering. Ninety-seven per cent of the entire population of the United States are afflicted with kidney or bladder trouble.

In the last seven years bloodine has cured 96 per cent of the cases that have been treated with it.

Hundreds of cases of hemorrhage the bladder have been cured after treatment in some of the bleeding hospitals have failed to even relieve the patient.

We are therefore confident that our theory of treating these cases with bloodine, is the only possible manner in which such a large percentage of cases can be cured that we do not hesitate to guarantee the efficiency of bloodine.

Mr. Hanson, the business manager of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Co., of Biddeford, Me., had a stone in his bladder removed from six and one half bottles of bloodine, after being told by all the leading physicians in his vicinity that the only way it could possibly be removed was by an operation. We stand ready to furnish positive proof as to the above statement to any one doubting the truth of the same.

More than five million bottles of bloodine were sold in America last year. Can there be any greater evidence of merit than this unparalleled sale of a scientific product. No other product has ever met with such astounding sales in so short a period, and from a conservative estimate the sales this year will reach ten million bottles. 2880 bottles were sold in a single day in Cleveland, Ohio; 2160 bottles were sold in Rochester, N. Y., at the first day's introductory sale, and 1400 bottles in Patterson, N. J., in one day. No scientific treatment has ever attained such success in America. We are now supplying druggists with bloodine, for the convenience of those wishing to convince themselves of its merits. If your druggist does not have it, the Bloodine Laboratories, Boston, Mass., will supply you with a six weeks' treatment, 6 bottles for $2.50; 60c a bottle, trial sample and booklet 10c.

AFTER DINNER SWEETS

CONFECTIONS BOTH PALATABLE AND HEALTHFUL.

Cocoa Ice Cream With Raspberry Juice is a Delight--Steamed or French Rice Pudding Good--Perfect Lemon Sauce.

Cocoa Ice Cream.—Two cupsful of milk, one cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of cornstarch or arrowroot, four egg yolks, two cupsful of cream, or two cupsful of milk and two table-spoonfuls of butter, one fourth to half a cupful of cocoa, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, and three-fourths of a teaspoonful of salt. Mix the arrowroot, add scalded milk and cook 20 minutes in double boiler. Beat eggs, add cream, or milk and butter; pour on to this mixture cornstarch mixture; add vanilla and freeze. One cupful of raspberry juice added just before freezing gives a pleasant variety.

Steamed Pudding.—One-fourth of a pound of flour, one-fourth of a pound of suet, one teaspoonful of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of molasses, a dust of nutmeg, a little milk, one ounce of crushed almonds, one-fourth of a pound of bread crumbs, two heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, two eggs, one grated lemon rind and juice, two ounces of currants and a pinch of salt. Put all ingredients into a basin, the suet put through a chopper, beat up the eggs and add to mixture, also a little milk if required. Grease a pudding mould, plain or fancy, and throw into it some coarse brown sugar, shake well, so that the mould is well coated with the sugar; cover with buttered paper and steam two hours. Serve with white sauce.

French Rice Pudding.—A quarter of a pound of ground rice, one pint of milk, three eggs, two heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, one lemon rind, one heaping tablespoonful of butter, brown bread crumbs, and three ounces of Sultana raisins. Grind the rice in a coffee mill. Boil the milk slowly, sprinkle in ground rice; boil till thick, six minutes, remove and add sugar and butter. Mix well, cool a little, add eggs, well beaten, stir and flavor with grated rind of half a lemon. Butter a plain mould, dust with toasted crumbs, pour in the pudding. Bake one hour in a moderate oven. Serve with lemon sauce.

Lemon Sauce.—One small lemon, one teaspoonful of water, one teaspoonful of cornstarch, one tablespoonful of sugar, a few drops of carmine. Put the cornstarch into a pan, add other ingredients, and bring to the boil.

To remove spots from crockery that has been placed in an oven, rub them with salt.

Hot milk added to potatoes when mashing them will keep them from being soggy.

To remove marks on paint made by scratching matches thereon, rub them with a cut lemon.

Grated or sliced pineapple used for sauce is improved by the addition of a little lemon juice, sugar and water.

To form a good broom holder, nail two spools to the wall about two inches apart. Hang the broom upside down between the spools.

To prevent ants getting into a refrigerator or on a table, set the legs of such pieces of furniture on small squares of sticky flypaper.

To prevent frosting from becoming hard, too soon and to give it a nice flavor, add a piece of butter about the size of a hickory nut to the frosting as you make it.

To make an excellent floor stain color linseed oil with ground burned umber. This should be rubbed well into the floor and the next day given an overpolish of beeswax and turpentine.

Curling Feathers.

When feathers are being curled they should be held in the left hand, with the fibers to be first curled lying over the forefinger of the same hand. The curling knife, or, if this is not to be had, a blunt instrument or a paper knife will do equally well, should then be drawn under the fibers from the rib to extremity of fibers, when they ring or curl at that point, and should not be less than a dime piece in size. Caution should be exercised in manipulating the fibers over the knife, or instead of a soft ring, the fibers will take corkscow formation and be ruined.

Pea Soup.

Pick over one-half cup split peas and soak over night in cold water, drain and add six cups cold water, one-half onion, a good slice of salt pork or bacon. Bring to boiling point, simmer two or three hours, run through a sieve; blend one tablespoon flour and butter size of a walnut, add one cup scalded milk, salt, pepper and celery salt to taste. Dilute with milk if too thick.

Marking Poison Bottles.

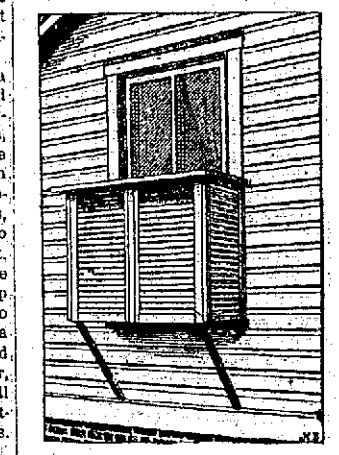

Put common pins in the corks of all bottles marked poison, sticking them into the bottom and allowing the points to protrude beyond the cork. After doing this you will never pick up such a bottle—even in the dark.

TRY THIS WINDOW CUPBOARD

Simple Labor-Saving Device That May Easily Be Installed in Any Kitchen.

One of the conveniences described by W. R. Beattie, of the United States Bureau of Plant Industry, is a ventilated window or outside cupboard for the keeping of meats, vegetables and other necessities of the kitchen.

This cupboard consists of a sort of extension built on the side of the kitchen, generally occupying the lower half of a window, and is made of slatted blinds, such as are used for window shutters. In fact, one pair of shutters cut in two in the middle will form the entire outer portion of the box. After nailing the blinds together a floor and roof are provided, and, if desirable, a shelf may be added about half way from the bottom. A top covering of tin or roofing paper is essential, and should be put on over the boards. Before putting in the shelf

Cupboard Built in Window.

The inside of this ventilated box should be lined with a fly-screen wire to prevent flies and other insects getting in.

After this device is installed in the lower half of a window it can be reached by simply raising the lower sash. By actual experience this has been found to be one of the greatest labor-saving devices that can be installed in a modern kitchen.

Lemon Float.

Cut four lemons in halves, discard the pipe, scoop out the pulp of two and squeeze the juice from the other two. To the juice add one heaping cupful of sugar and a scant pint of water and bring quickly to a boil. Stir in three scant tablespoonfuls of cornstarch mixed with one-third of a teaspoonful of salt and a little cold water and when smoothly thickened draw to one side, cover and cook very slowly for half an hour. Take off, add the lemon pulp and one orange peeled and sliced. Serve this dessert very cold with cream and sugar.

Two Useful Hints.

To prevent water from running down the arm while washing walls or ceiling, slip a jar-rubber on the arm as far as it will be comfortable and not stop circulation.

A good labor saving and steam saving scheme is the way I steam puddings and brown bread. I fill a coffee can half full of pudding, then put cover on tight, put can in lard pail, fill half full of boiling water and put cover on lard pail; set in the oven till pudding is done. It does not need filling up nor need to be tended at all.

Cream Fritters.

One cup of cream, five eggs, the whites only, two full cups prepared flour, one saltspoon of nutmeg, a pinch of salt; stir the whites into the cream in turn with the flour, put in nutmeg and salt, beat all up hard for two minutes. The batter should be rather thick. Fry in plenty of hot, sweet lard, a spoon of batter for each fritter, drain and serve upon a hot, clean napkin; eat with jelly sauce. Pull, not cut, them open. Very nice.

Grapefruit Frappe.

This is made of grapefruit juice and sugar—one and a half pounds of sugar added to one pint of the juice. Cook to a syrup, pour on the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs, then beat till cold; freeze and serve in frappe glasses. If desired mint or candied ginger may be added to the syrup in the proportion of two tablespoonfuls chopped ginger or mint, in which case a little diced ginger or candied mint leaf decorates each glass.

To Use Old Woolen Blankets.

If woolen blankets are wearing out, cover them with alkali and tuck like a comfort. They need not be tied closely, as they will not slip or pack as cotton does. The fleece or cotton blankets may be used in a quilt instead of cotton wadding, and are easier to handle.—McCall's Magazine.

Potato Fried Cakes.

Roll 13 medium sized potatoes until well done. Mash fine. Add a piece of butter the size of an egg. Season with nutmeg. Add two teaspoonfuls of baking powder with flour enough to make a stiff dough. Roll out and let stand ten minutes before frying.

Cheese Paste.

One ten-cent cream cheese, one-fourth pound mild cheese, one-half bottle cream or one-half cup, ten or more large olives (chopped), dash paprika. Cream two kinds of cheese together; add cream and chopped olives and paprika. This is delicious.

PLAN MANY CHURCHES

WASHINGTON IS SOON TO HAVE SOME NOTABLE EDIFICES.

Only Buildings in Capital Worthy of Mention Are Those Erected During the Decade Before and the Decade After the Revolution.

Although it is more than ordinarily endowed with splendid buildings indicative of the temporal power of an ascendant capital, Washington has not among its public edifices very many notable examples of church architecture. There are a number of course numerous chapels and churches in Washington. In fact, a man may stand in any quarter of the city and see from a street corner two or three worshiping places, but few of them are structures of imposing appearance.

Many capitals of the world are justly famed for their churches, and for little else, so unless there is an uplift in this direction Washington will have to depend on its other glories for distinction. This deficiency, however, is keenly felt, and even now there is a movement afoot among all sects to beautify Washington churches.

The only churches in Washington at present worthy of mention are those built during the decade before and the decade after the Revolution.

Probably the most exquisite survival of these earlier periods of church building is old St. John's Episcopal Church, which stands just across Lafayette square from the White House. This is, indeed, a remarkable quarter from an architectural point of view. The historic square is lined with notable structures, among them the Commodore Decatur house, the John Hay house, and the Arlington Hotel. Old St. John's itself is classic in type and follows closely the dictates of Inigo Jones. Its graceful portico, of the Roman Doric order, faces Sixteenth street, while its length extends along the square. Its belfry is the most typical feature about the edifice, its classic lines, pyramidal to a spire, calling to mind the best of London steeples.

There are other churches in Washington belonging to the same period, but smaller and less noteworthy. One of 60 years later, however, is worthy mentioning, in that it is a remarkable example of church architecture, although built during a period of depression. It is the Cathedral of St. Dominic, a Catholic church in Southwest Washington, a little frequented section of the city. This church is the most perfect Gothic building in the city, and while not as ornate as Continental Gothic cathedrals, it is of a high plane of excellence. It is not among the churches shown to sight-seers who come to Washington, however, and is seldom seen save by those who frequent it.

Another of the churches built in the "black walnut" period is Grace Church in Georgetown, which is contiguous to Washington and now a part of it. Grace Church is of red brick and Gothic. Its chief merit lies in a remarkable belfry, although the entire structure is unusually graceful.

Two notable churches, however, are now being erected by the advocates of better church architecture in Washington. The one which is to stand at the head of Washington's list of ecclesiastical edifices is the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul, at Mount St. Alban, which overlooks the entire city. This cathedral, which is just rising above its foundations, will be of the most elaborate Gothic design. It will resemble York Minster, an Old World church of fame, pointing two towers high above a maze of flying buttresses and carved images of saints. The chapel of the Holy Nativity, a part of the cathedral, has already been dedicated, but the main cathedral will be nearly as long in building as the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York.

Another notable Washington church now under construction is the First Church of Christ, Scientist, nearing completion, on Columbia Heights, a fashionable residence section of the city. This church is classic in design and is built on the lines of the Pantheon. It will be the most imposing church of its type in Washington. Equally as fine will be the Temple of the Scottish Rite, but that structure will not be completed for months and probably years to come.

This general movement toward better church architecture will, in the next decade, put Washington on a plane with other cities of its size as far as excellence of such edifices is concerned.

Work of Many Architects.

A number of architects were employed at one time or another on the capitol. The first four were William Thornton, Stephen Hallet, George Hadfield and James Hoban. Nothing remains of the plans of the first two of these men. Hadfield was the most skillful, and continued to work after Benjamin Latrobe was put in charge. After the capitol was burned Latrobe made several improvements. He was succeeded by Charles Bulfinch of Boston, the first American born architect to work on the building. He practically completed it in 1830. Finally, twenty years later, Thomas U. Walter of Philadelphia added the dome and the extensions, the most beautiful and interesting portions of the structure.

GOOD SUBSTITUTE FOR MEAT

Will Be Appreciated, as a Change, by Those Who Are Not Strict Vegetarians.

This dish calls for two cupsful of thoroughly boiled cold barley, one cupful of finely ground roasted peanuts, one cupful of fine bread crumbs, one teaspoonful of salt and one saltspoonful of white pepper or paprika, one stick of celery, two tablespoonfuls of olive oil or three of butter, four tablespoonfuls of browned flour, one large onion, and vegetables, stock or water.

Make a brown sauce of the oil, flour, and vegetable stock to thin to the consistency of thick cream sauce. Chop the onion fine and simmer it five minutes in a tablespoonful of butter, then stir in the barley, then the peanuts and bread crumbs mixed together with the salt, pepper, and celery. Add the hot brown sauce (let over gravy may be used for this). Mold into a loaf, mixing all ingredients well. Grease a roasting pan, place the loaf in it and cook in a hot oven ten minutes; then add a tablespoonful of butter melted in a cupful of hot water and baste with this every five minutes for one-half hour.

Remove to a hot platter and make a cupful of brown gravy in the pan and serve in a sauceboat. If tomatoes are in season, garnish the platter with slices dipped in seasoned flour and fried brown. Over all sprinkle the minced parsley.

Other cooked cereals or combinations of cereals may substitute the barley. A corn and rice mixture would be good.

DESSERT DISHES OF RHUBARB

Pudding, Tapioca, or Shortcake, Any One of Them Makes a Delicious Confection.

Rhubarb Pudding.—Mash half a pound of bag or pulled figs, or use dates or raisins or a mixture of all or two of these fruits. Cover with boiling water and cook until water is nearly absorbed. Cut a pound of rhubarb in inch pieces, put a layer of the cooked dried fruit, and repeat until all is used. Add a quarter of a cup of hot water and bake in a slow oven until the rhubarb is soft. Serve cold alone or with cream.

Rhubarb Tapioca.—Soak half a cup of tapioca over night and cook until clear in a double boiler. Place in a buttered pudding dish two cups of rhubarb, cut in small pieces; one cup of sugar and a pinch of ginger. Pour the hot tapioca over this, stir in one teaspoonful of butter, cover and bake one hour. Put a meringue on it before serving, if you like, or serve it cold, with plain or whipped cream.

Rhubarb Shortcake.—Put two cups of rhubarb, cut small, with a scant cup of sugar in a double boiler and cook until rhubarb is tender and sugar dissolved. Add the juice and chopped rind of one lemon. Make a shortcake by your favorite recipe, but cut and bake it like biscuit. When done, break open, butter them and arrange on a hot dish. Put the rhubarb in between, and when serving pour the juice over them.

Successful Jelly Making.

Use good fruit which is a little under ripe.

Use the best granulated sugar.

No not make large quantities of jelly at one cooking.

Heat the sugar in the oven before adding it to the fruit juice.

If the juice must be boiled down, always do so before the sugar is added.

The jelly will be clearer and finer if the fruit is simmered gently and not stirred during cooking.

Do not allow the syrup to boil rapidly, or crystals may appear in jelly.

Always make jelly on a bright, clear day.

Wash the jelly glasses in hot water and set them on a folded cloth wrung out of hot water.

Set the jelly in a sunny window for twenty-four hours, then cover with melted paraffin and set in a dry, cool place.—Woman's World.

Antiseptic Soap.

Five pounds rendered fat; one can concentrated lye; three pints cold water, one heaping teaspoonful pulverized borax; one cup of ammonia; two ounces glycerine; two teaspoons carbolic acid. Pour can potash into the water and let stand till dissolved, stir occasionally. Add ammonia and borax. Melt fat and add, then stir till of a creamy consistency, then put in glycerine and acid. Perfume with extract of sassafras. Turn soap into granite pan to harden. Mark off while soft. Follow directions carefully.—"Home Department," National Magazine.

Stewed Beetroot.

Bake the beetroot one hour, when cold take off the skin, cut it into slices a quarter of an inch thick, put it into a stewpan with half a pint of dry stock, a saltspoon of salt, the same of pepper, one-half a grain of cayenne, a shallot chopped, two sprigs of parsley chopped; simmer three-quarters of an hour, add a wineglass of vinegar and serve.

Shrinking Cotton.

As cotton materials shrink they must either be shrunk in the piece or made a size larger and luck trusted that the garment may not shrink beyond all wearing. In shrinking anything, use boiling water until it is thoroughly saturated and then wring out and dry; sprinkle and iron on the wrong side with a hot iron until the fabric is perfectly dry.

PUT UP CELERY SEASONING

Excellent Table Condiment May Easily Be Made at Home—Use for Old Wash Boiler.

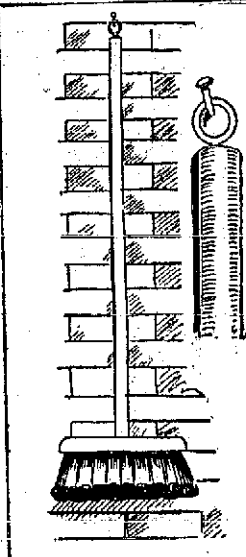

An excellent celery seasoning may be made at home. Get five cents' worth of celery seed; run it through the finest knife of the grinder or break it in a mortar; mix with about ten times its bulk of table salt and bottle.

Nothing is more suitable for the warm weather curricula than serif or even linen in a coarse weave, and if this is bought in a plain color lovely sets for doors and windows can be made with the addition of a little stenciling.

A use for an old wash-boiler is to stand it in a convenient place on the back porch or near the back steps, and put all old papers in it. When the boiler is full set it in the path and apply a match to the papers. Keep the lid of the boiler on until the proper time comes to burn the waste.

In washing very fine muslins, they should be soaked in tepid water in which borax has been dissolved, one tablespoonful of borax to a gallon of water being sufficient. After half an hour they can be rubbed gently in soap made of fine white curd soap, and boiling water then poured over them and left to cool. They should be well rinsed and squeezed rather than wrung out.

HANG UP THE BROOM

When not in use, every broom should be suspended so that the material of which it is formed may not rest upon the ground, as that course will quickly spoil the best article ever manufactured. There are various ways of doing this. Probably the simplest and best is to provide the handle with a screw eye fitted in the end.

Beef Grenadines.

From a beef tenderloin cut inch slices. Melt a little butter in a frying pan, the slices and cook slowly for ten minutes on each side without really browning or giving them the appearance of being fried. When turned, sprinkle the upper side with salt, pepper and a few drops of mushroom catsup. Have ready a thick brown sauce in which has been cooked one tablespoon of chopped ham, one teaspoon of sherry and one teaspoon of mushroom catsup. Strain and see that it is well seasoned. Boil some brussels sprouts until tender, drain and reheat for a moment in a saucepan containing a little butter melted, salt and pepper, toss and shake until they absorb the butter. Heap the sprouts in the center of the platter, put the sauce (which should be very thick) around them, and arrange the grenadines in a circle round the base of the sprouts.

Fried Potatoes "La Cuisine Creole."

Wash and prepare a sufficient quantity of potatoes for the meal. Slice them in a machine, taking care to beat down lightly, so as to have the slices very thin. Have ready a vessel of very hot lard, and drop the sliced potatoes into it, letting them remain until they begin to brown. Take them out with a wire ladle, scatter a little fine salt over them, and serve while hot. Success depends almost entirely upon having the lard sufficiently hot. If the potatoes do not brown, but absorb fat, and are limp and greasy, be sure the lard must be made better. Properly fried, they may be eaten with relish when cold, as they are crisp and palatable.

Asbestos Pad.

An asbestos pad for the table may be made in this way: Get enough asbestos paper to cover the table with double thickness. From a couple of old sheets cut two pieces the size of the table. Baste the asbestos paper between them and quilt it on the sewing machine, using a long stitch. This is necessary, as the paper tears and pulls apart easily. Put this pad on the table under your silver cloth, and there will be no marks made on the polished surface by hot dishes.

Fruit Pastries.

Wheat meal, apples, currants, nuttans, cinnamon, sugar, lemon peel. Make a dough by mixing wheat meal with ice-cold water, add grated coconut if desired; knead as quickly as possible to a stiff, hard dough, roll very thin. Core and chop the apples, mix with the currants and other ingredients, inclose portions in lengths of the pastry, bake and when cold cut into slices.

GIMLET CLUB LAST REALIZE THEIR DREAM

Will Throw Water With the Franklin Pierce Under Guidance of Capt.
Muchmore.

Well, if there is not something doing in hand tub circles before long it will be no fault of Capt. Muchmore, one of the bravest. For many years the captain has been telling his friends that it was a shame to lock up the old machine Franklin Pierce in cold storage and that there was some speed left in the old tub. At last the captain has realized that his efforts have not been wasted and he will now command a bunch of huckles on the brakes of the machine that has made Portsmouth and himself famous.

The old tub has been put in the hands of the Gimlet Club, a five-wire organization at the West End, who will come out for training under the eagle eye of Captain Muchmore. The captain says that his bunch are out to win and that there will be no blowing out of packing, cross winds, stuffed hose and other excuses for defeat. "If we go down," says the old hero, "we will go down on our merits."

The first battle will be at Salisbury Beach when the Gimlets will be there with the goods.

FARMER'S HORSE DOES A FUNNY STUNT

Wets His Whistle at the Public Drinking
Fountain.

Horses don't care where they drink as long as they can find water. This was the situation this noon when a big white barn yard pacer attached to a farmers wagon found his way to the public dipperless fountain at the corner of Congress and Vaughan streets. It was amusing to see old Dolbin suck up the small spray, and nothing appeared to stop the seed as while quenching his thirst.

Two or three boys got busy with a poke in the ribs for the steed in an attempt to drive him, but he paid no least attention and kept his face right close to the Sherburne Spring beverage until his tank was supplied.

THE P. C. U.— CONCORD GAME

What Concord Has to Say About the Local Players.

The sporting writer of the Concord Patriot has the following to say about the Portsmouth Catholic Union in his notes of the game on Saturday.

The umpire in chief Howard looked real cute on his white sweater but he received a good many hard knocks offloading behind the bat, the most of them coming when Abrams was putting them over for strikeouts and the sluggers were landing on Dandeneau for clean bingles.

Two of the locals were guilty of ungentlemanly ball playing, and the actions of one of the visitors, Kincaid, was certainly uncalled for when he attempted to block Marrell in going to second on a clean two base hit to center.

The visitors fielded their positions well but were very weak at the bat.

Hoffman showed class as a second baseman covering a lot of ground.

The double play executed by Hughes, Hoffman, and Kincaid, was the fastest seen in the city this season.

Morris and Kabelka are considered fine twirlers and there will probably be a different story when either of those men occupy the box against the Sluggers. Dandeneau's offerings were not to the Sluggers liking. The Union boys were clean looking chaps and went through the game without kicking whatsoever. Hughes and Hoffman played their positions well and Morris made three nice catches of hard hit balls in his territory.

The P. C. U. team won 10 games and lost 5 in the Portsmouth Sunset League. They have an exceptionally fast infield, Kincaid at first being a good fielder who has a wonderful whip and bats remarkably well, besides being fast on the bases. Hoffman at second is called Portsmouth's best second baseman. He covers a lot of ground and he is also a good batter.

Portsmouth had a hospital tag day Saturday, and some of the automobiles which came up to see the game were tagged before they left home, as the labels they bore gave testimony.

The Herald Hears

That the retail clerks are to have another outing.

That the P. C. U. baseball team cannot help bringing to memory the social reception tendered them at Concord.

That a few lights at night are very much needed on some of the docks.

That somebody was good enough to remove the burned wood from the playground.

That the Maine state health are after dealers of candy and fruit who are not covering their goods.

That the apple crop promises to be a good one.

That everybody connected with the municipal court is some busy this month.

That the office so long used by the firm of Gray and Prime has been closed.

That Capt. Muchmore is not a dead one in hand tub circles.

That he is going to have nothing but huckles on the old machine.

That the Methodists are having their last day of worship in the old church on State street.

That Dover wants to take a fall out of the P. C. U. The games would be a drawing card.

That the state tax board license board, and a few other commissions that rule in the cities of this state should be and will be attended to in the next legislature.

That the Warwick club rooms will be much beautified in the changes being made there.

The circus that plays here on the 29th has 15 cars.

HE DID NOTHING

Here is a reproduction of a conversation recently heard:

First citizen: "License Inspector G. Scott Locke was in Portsmouth yesterday."

Second citizen: "What did he try to do there?"

First citizen: "Nothing."

Second citizen: "Well our license inspectors don't have to work to draw their salaries."
